Use this form to instruct Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC and National Financial Services LLC (collectively, "Fidelity") to consolidate account documents into a single envelope or account statement. Helpful To Know

- For an account with multiple owners to be eligible for house-holding, ALL account owners/trustees must sign this form.
- If any account owner/trustee changes an address on any account on a household statement, it will automatically update the mailing address on ALL other accounts.
- Account documents included in the household include monthly account statements, eligible daily and quarterly trade confirmations, revised account profiles and other eligible account documents as Fidelity makes them available.

- Charitable Gift Fund (CGF) accounts are not eligible.
- Non-prototype accounts for the same plan are eligible if all accounts have the same address and trustees and do not have self-directed brokerage. Non-prototype accounts cannot be househanded with other registration type accounts.

Important

- Accounts with multiple owners are eligible for householding only if all owners sign this form. All owners of all accounts in a household will be able to view the householded statement that contains all accounts. i.e., if a trust has two trustees 1 and 2, and trustee 1's individual account is househanded with the trust account, trustee 2 would be able to view the individual account on the householded statement.

Household Eligibility

- Fidelity prototype 401(k), 403(b), 457 accounts are not eligible.
